KOKO and KOLA

Once upon a night, Koko and Kola jumped off the magic high chair in answer to Raymond's call....

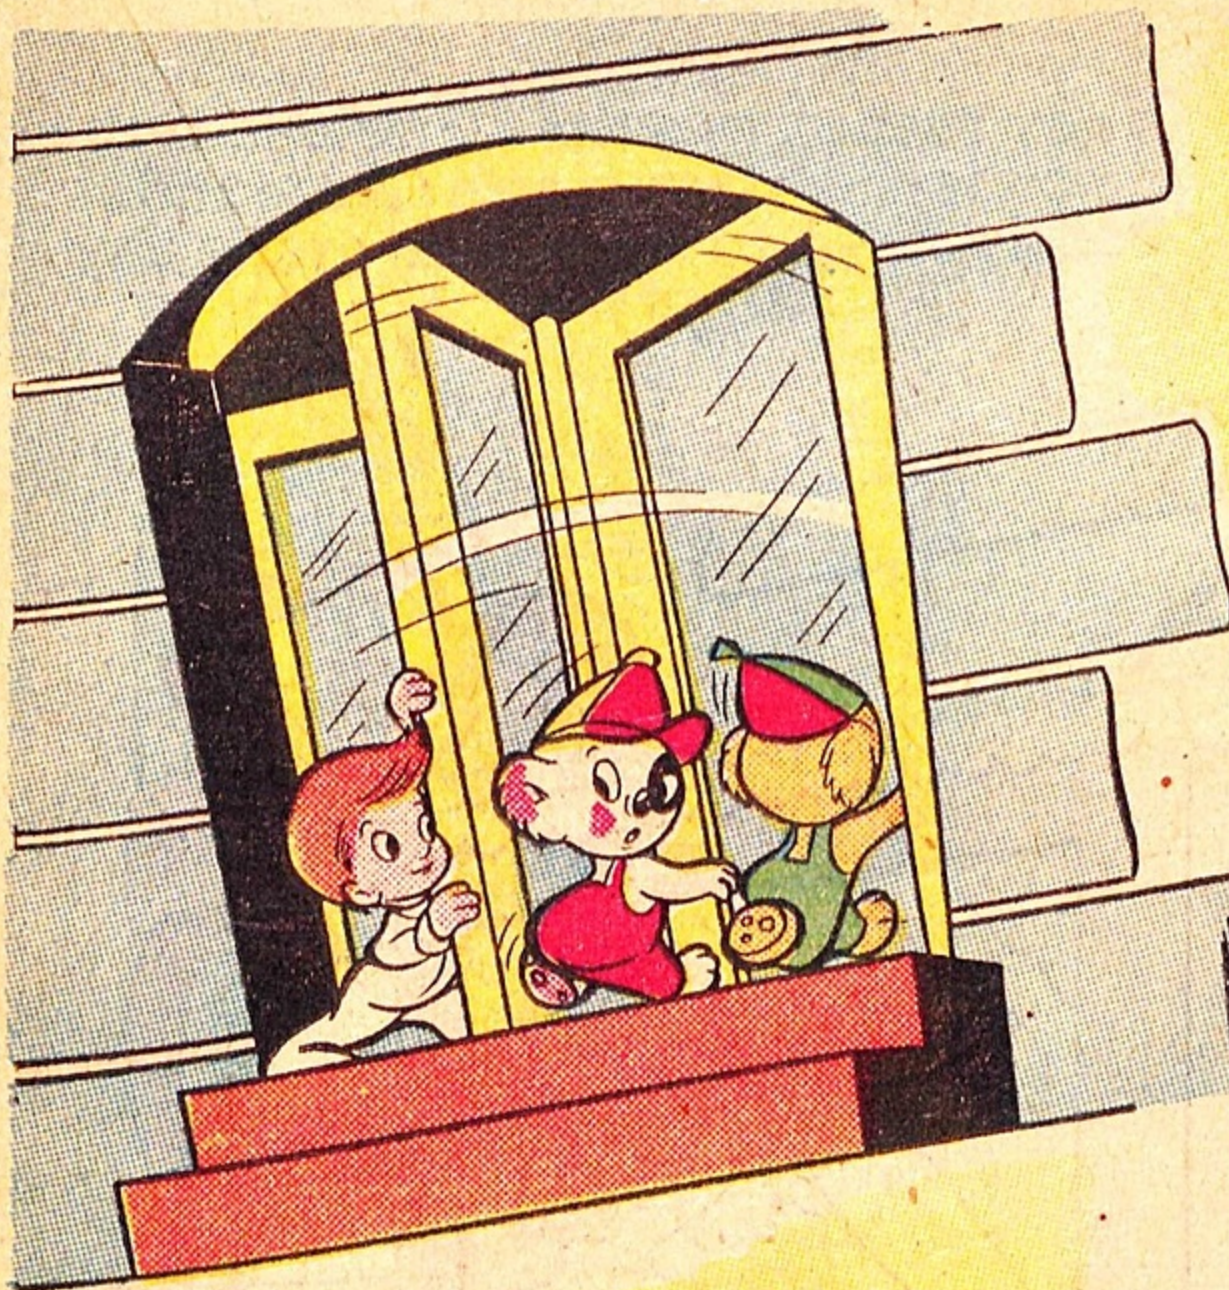

"Will you come down-town with me?" he asked. "My Daddy is always going down-town to BUSINESS-- and I want to see just what BUSINESS is!" Koko and Kola were delighted...

When the three friends got down-town, they saw buildings so tall that they seemed to touch each other. The little bears were very frightened. But Raymond told them not to be afraid, because the buildings wouldn't topple over....

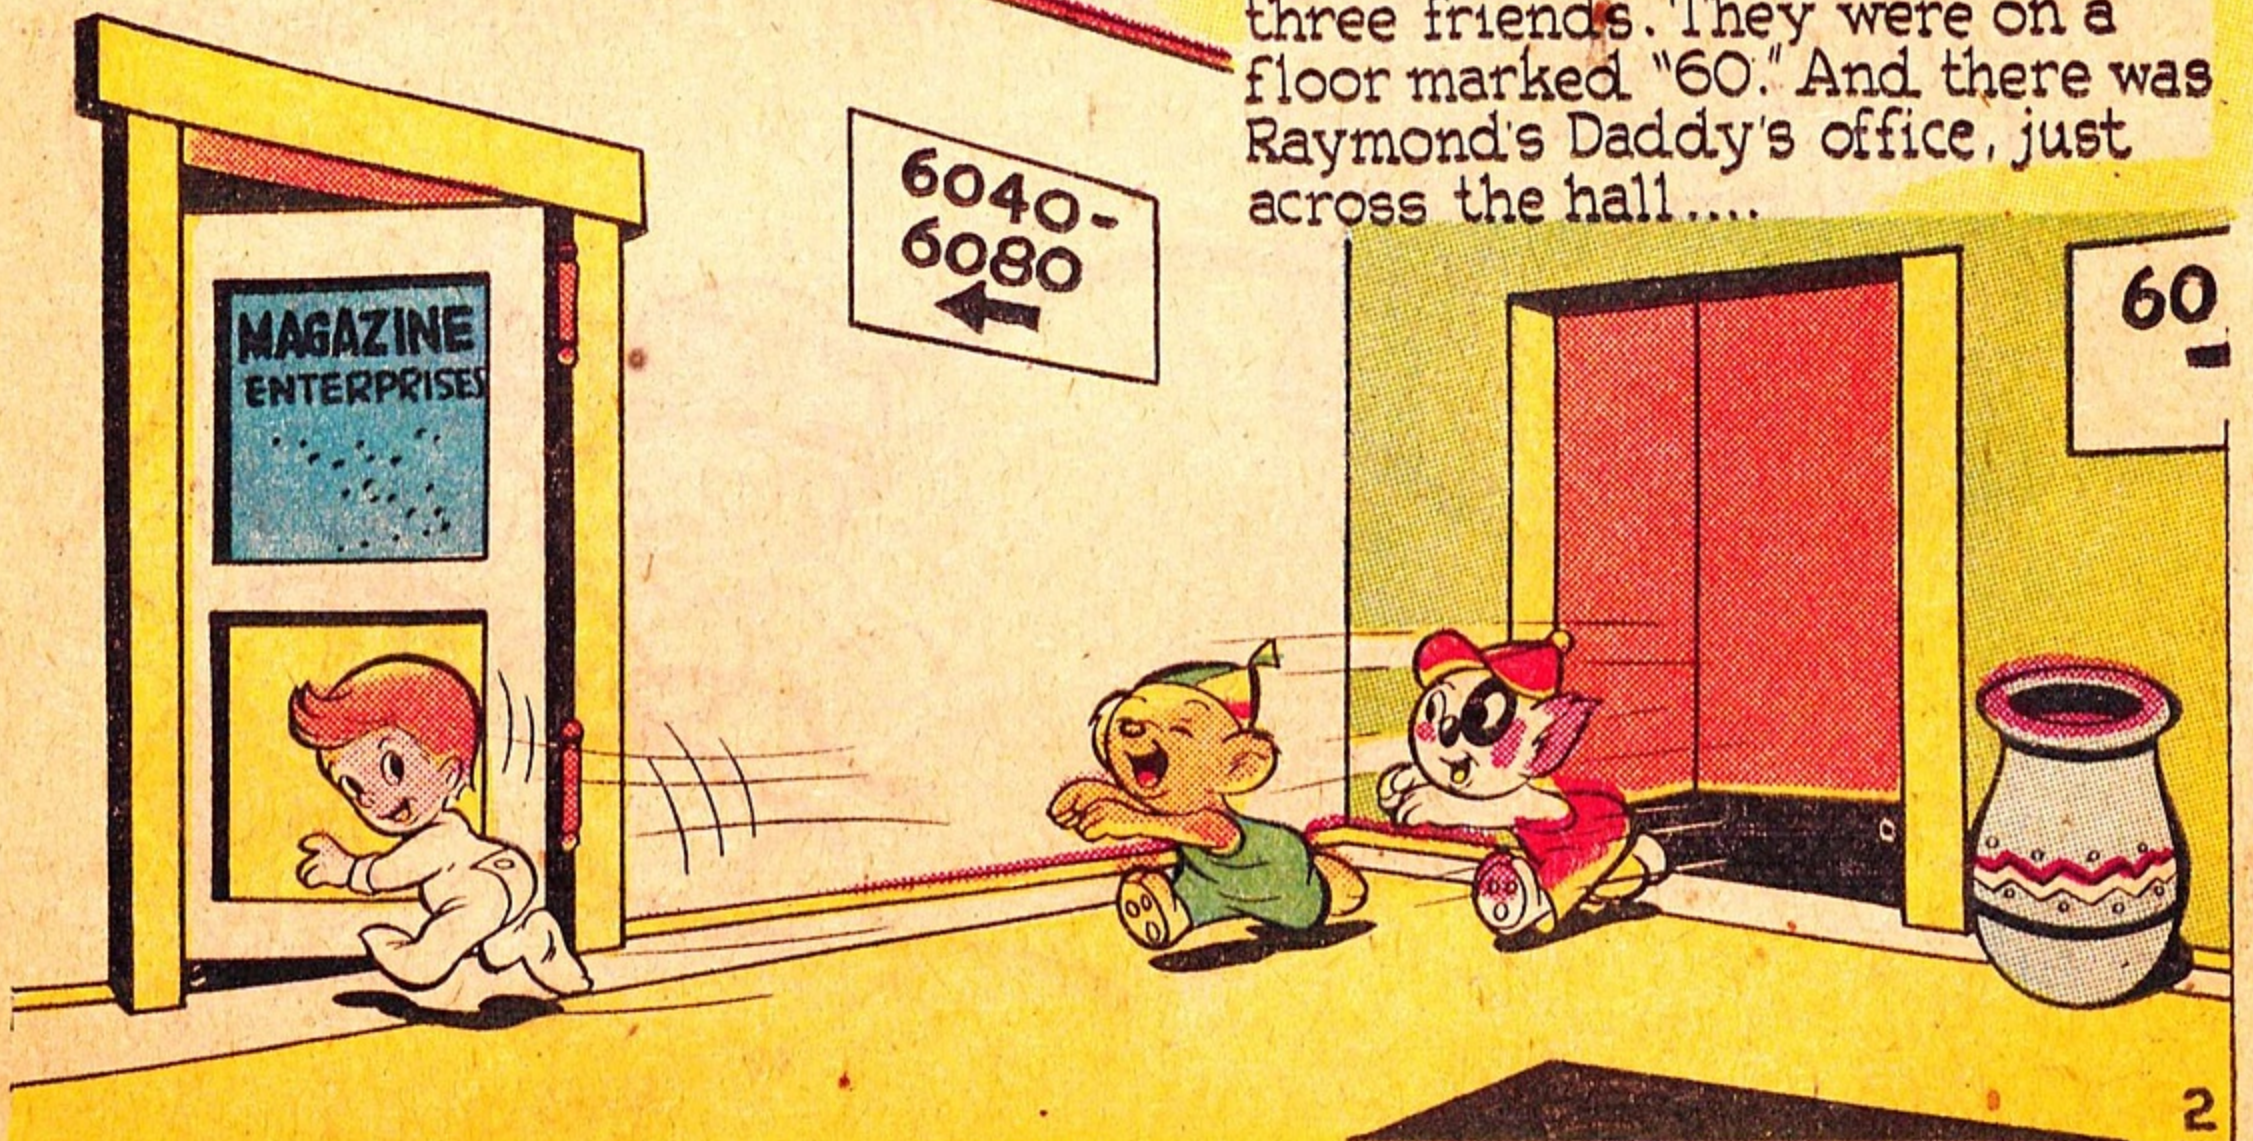

Daddy's building was just as big as all the others. And the doors in the front of the building went 'round and 'round, just like a merry-go-round. When Raymond pushed on this revolving door, the door bumped Koko and Kola right into the big hallway inside..

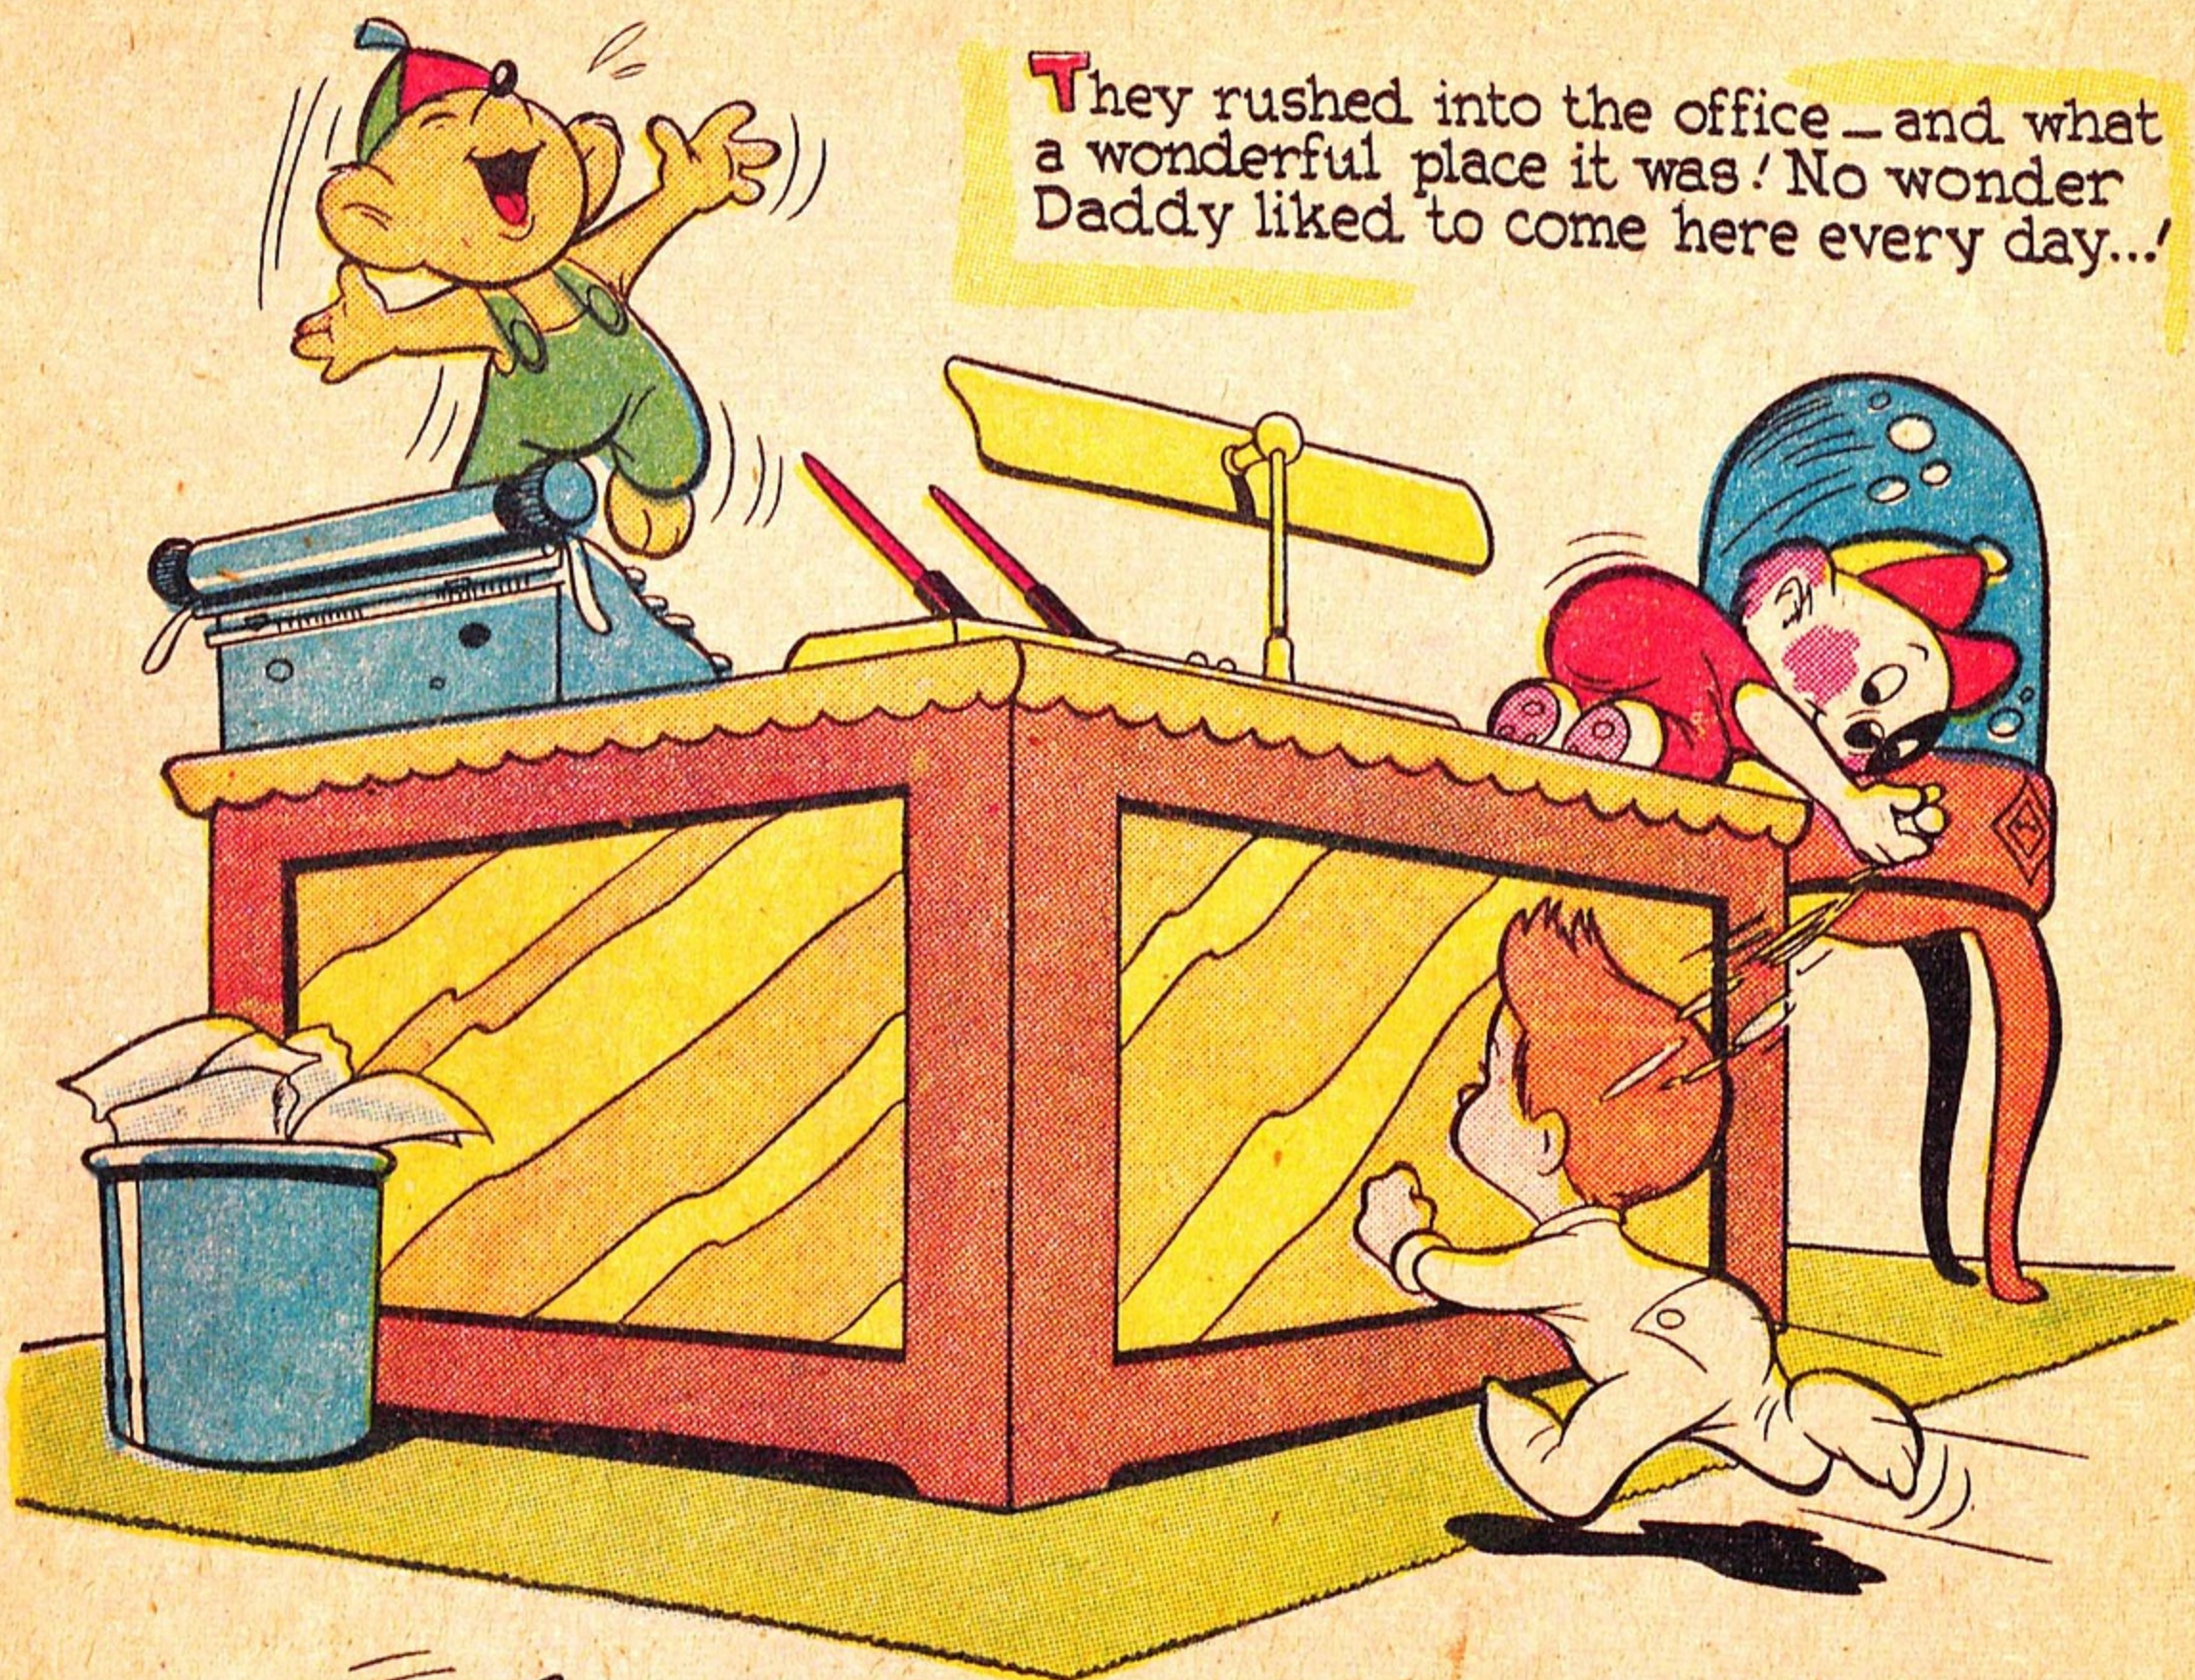

Raymond followed close behind, and skidded on the slippery floor of the hallway. Meanwhile, Koko stood on Kola's shoulders to push the button for the elevator. When it came, they all scrambled in and pushed a button marked "60"....

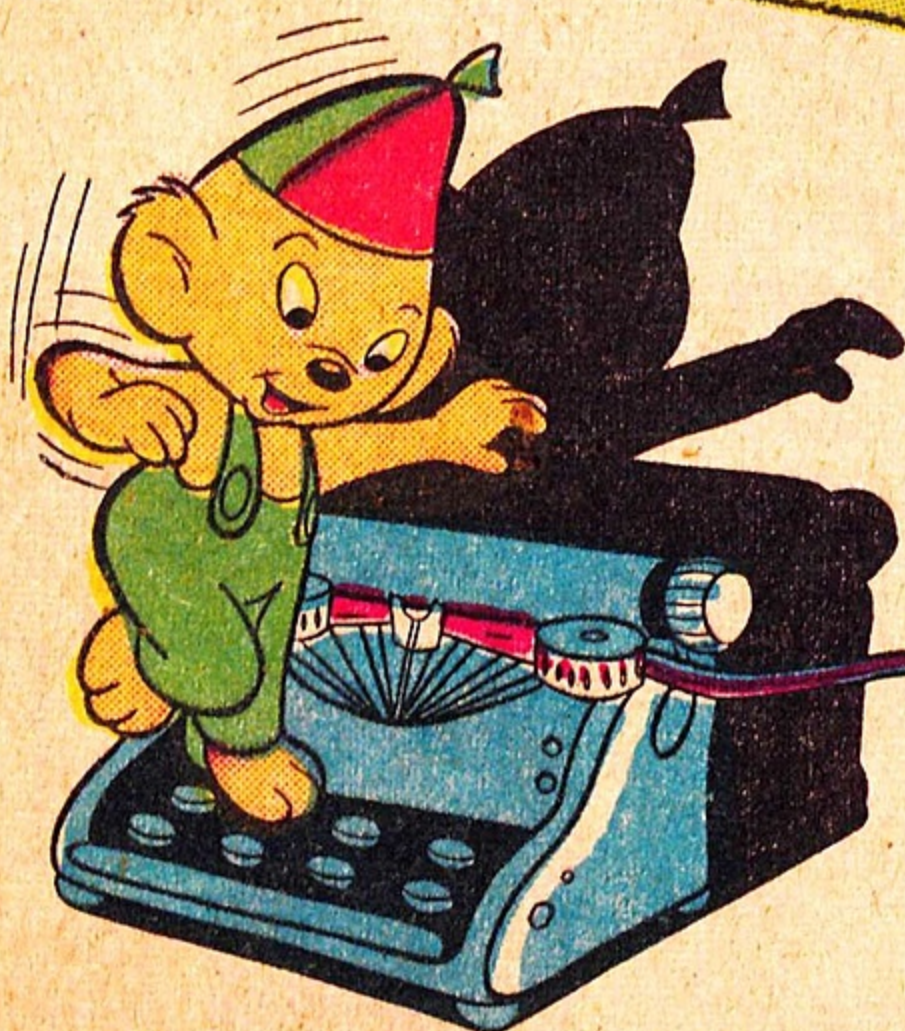

Up, up, up went the elevator. Suddenly, the doors slid open all by themselves and out popped the three friends. They were on a floor marked "60." And there was Raymond's Daddy's office, just across the hall....

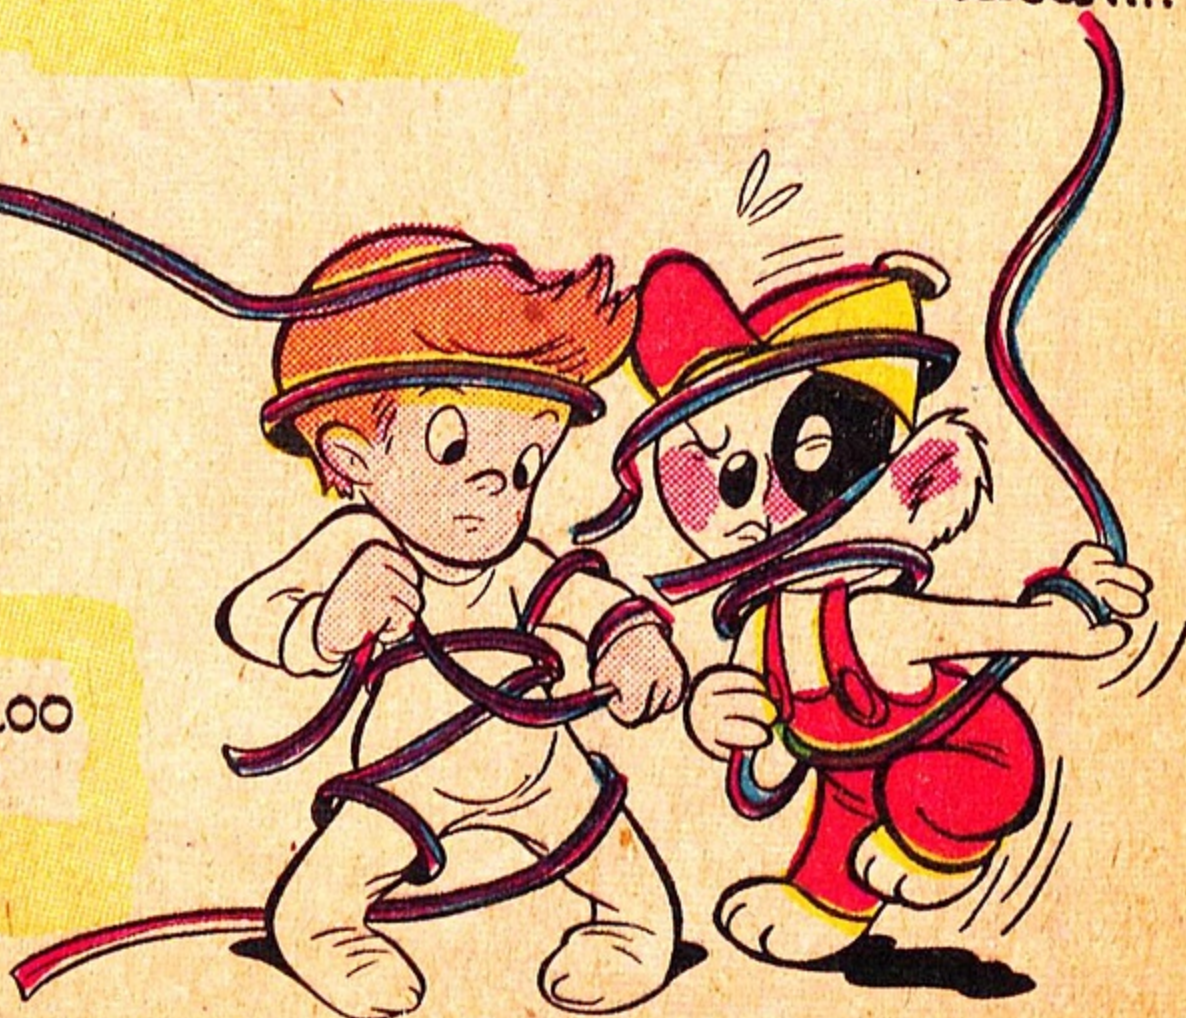

They rushed into the office — and what a wonderful place it was! No wonder Daddy liked to come here every day...

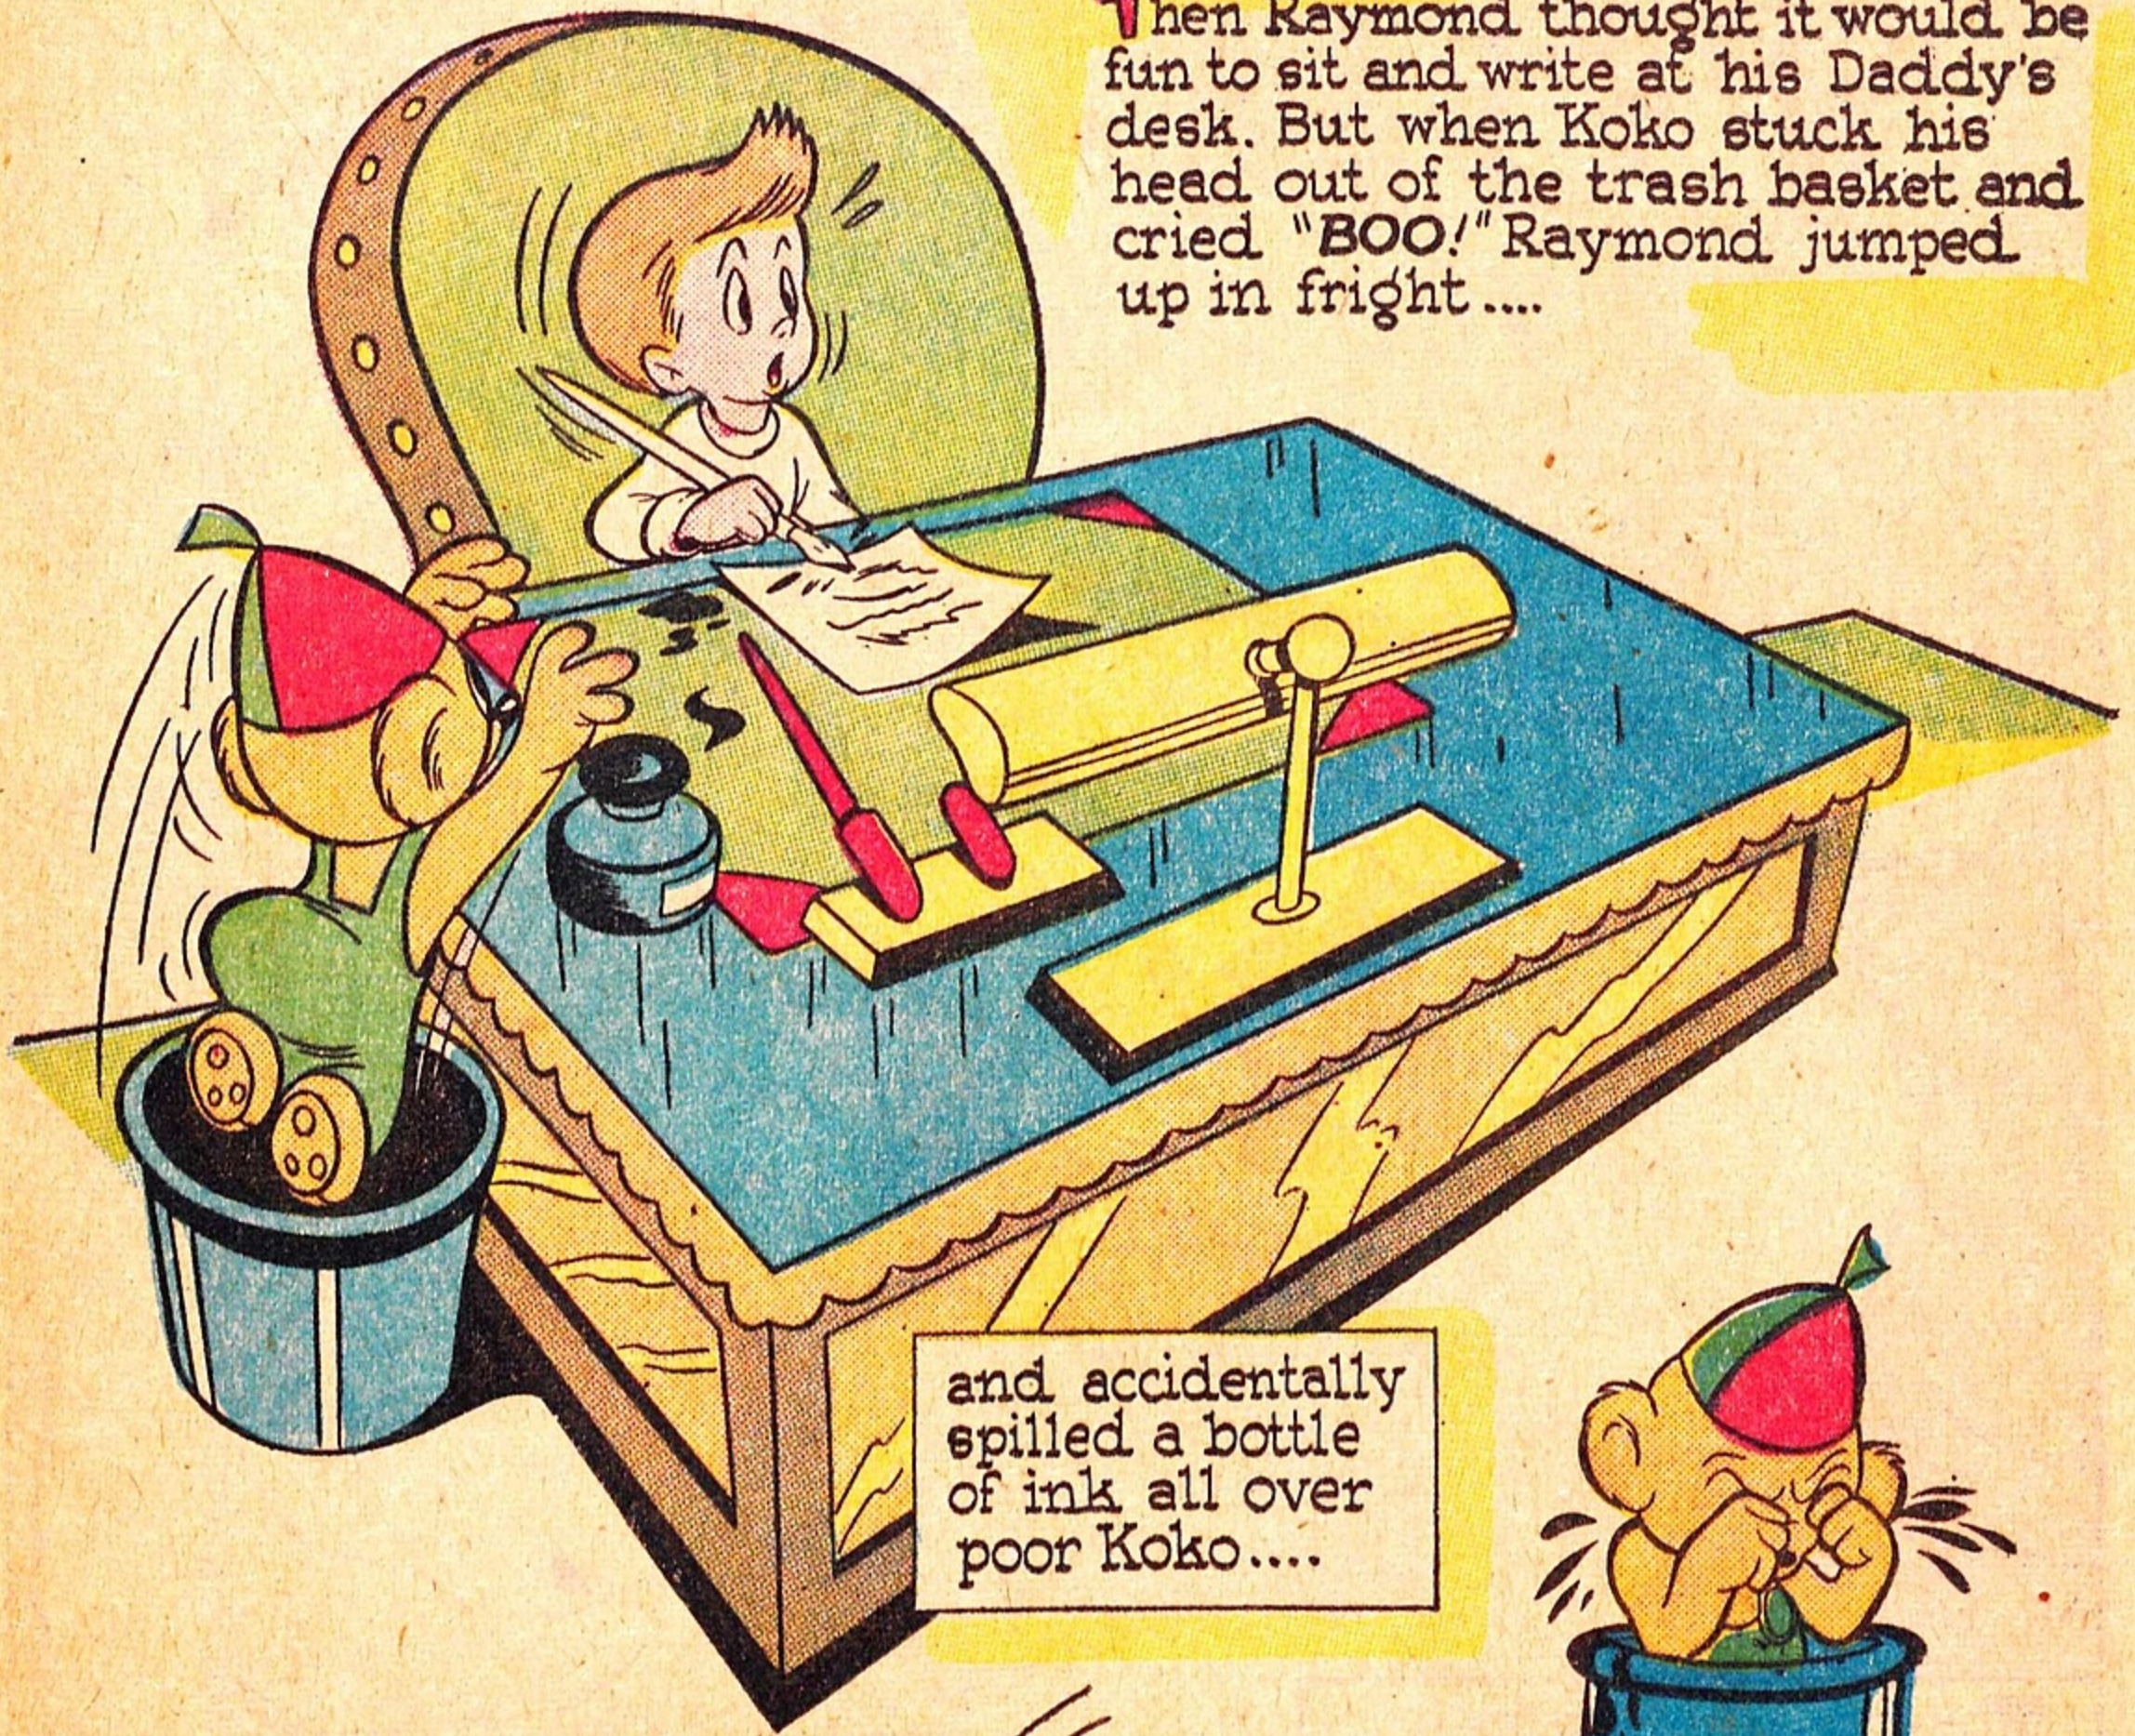

Koko jumped up on an interesting machine, and every time his feet touched the little buttons on it, the machine went TAP-TAP-TAP. "Do you think THIS is BUSINESS?" he asked....

But Kola and Raymond were too busy pulling the ribbon out of the machine to answer him ...

Then Raymond thought it would be fun to sit and write at his Daddy's desk. But when Koko stuck his head out of the trash basket and cried "BOO!" Raymond jumped up in fright....

and accidentally spilled a bottle of ink all over poor Koko....

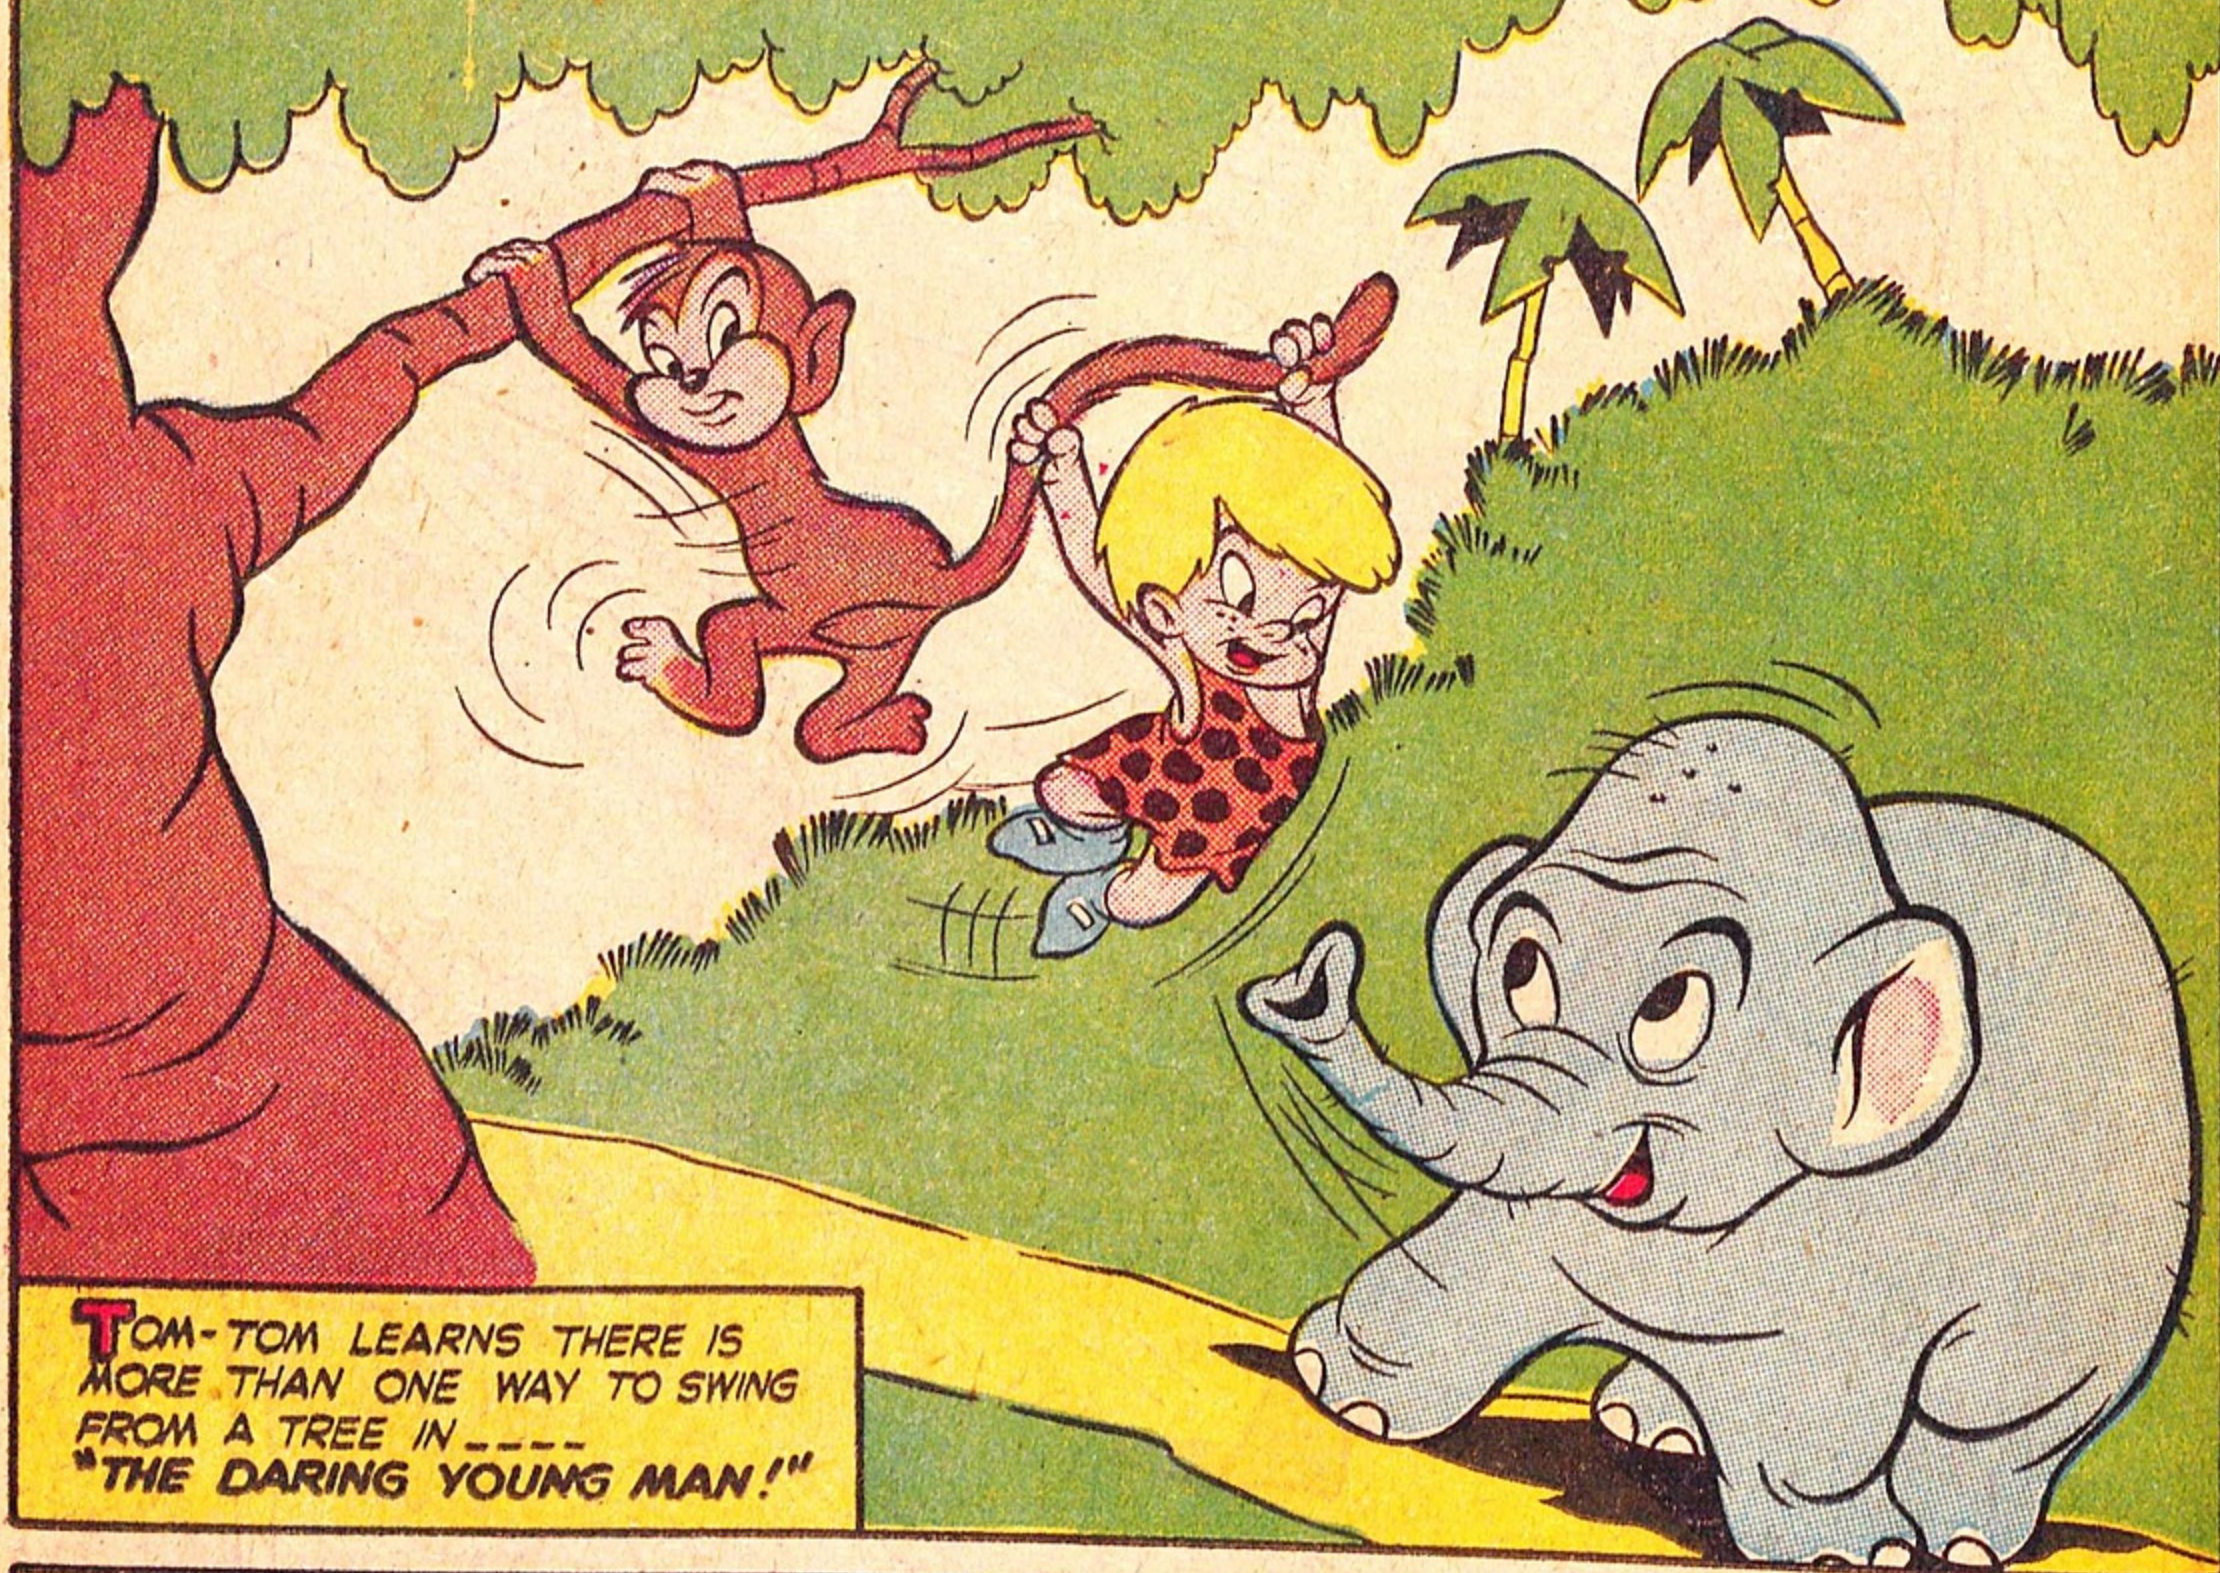

Kola jumped over to help Raymond pull Koko out of the basket. It was almost morning now, and time for them to hurry home—and they had not been able to find BUSINESS. "Maybe," said Raymond, as they scurried on home, "BUSINESS is only here in the DAYTIME!"
